

Norwich Bulletin
and Courier.

114 YEARS OLD.

Subscription price, 12c a week; 50c a month; $5.00 a year.

Entered at the Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., as second-class matter.

Telephone Calls:
Bulletin Business Office, 189-B.
Bulletin Editorial Room, 189-B.
Bulletin Job Office, 35-4.
Williamette Office, Room 2 Murray Building, Telephone 215.

Norwich, Saturday, Oct. 29, 1910.

The Circulation of The Bulletin.

The Bulletin has the largest circulation of any paper in Eastern Connecticut, and from three to four times as large as any in the state. It is delivered to over 2,000 of the 4,000 houses in Norwich, and read by ninety-three per cent of the people. It is published in the morning at 9 o'clock, and is delivered to every household in the city. It is published in the morning at 9 o'clock, and is delivered to every household in the city. It is published in the morning at 9 o'clock, and is delivered to every household in the city.

CIRCULATION

1901, average.....4,413

1906, average.....5,920

Week ending Oct. 22.....8,187

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

Election Tuesday, Nov. 8th.

For Governor,
CHARLES A. GOODWIN of Hartford.

For Lieutenant Governor,
DENNIS A. BLAKESLEE
of New Haven.

For Secretary of State,
MATTHEW H. ROGERS
of Bridgeport.

For State Treasurer,
COSTELLO LIPPERT
of Norwich.

For State Comptroller,
THOMAS H. HENRY of Thomaston.

For Attorney General,
JOHN H. LIGHT
of Norwich.

For Congressmen,
R. STEVEN HENRY of Vernon.

Second District,
ANDREW N. SHEPARD of Portland.

Third District,
HENRY H. HIGGIN
of Norwich.

Fourth District,
EBENEZER J. HILL
of Norwich.

For Representative-at-Large in Congress,
JOHN C. TILSON
of New Haven.

SENIORS.

—Daniel M. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.
—John T. Cronin of New London.

THE CENSUS FIGURES.

The census figures for Norwich look good and forebode a promising future. The town in the past ten years has made the largest growth since the period between 1850 and 1860. It is not only a matter of industrial changes when many people were compelled to seek work elsewhere, and our loss in population in consequence was considerable, but our growth was due to new industries and by the enlargement of old ones.

CHARGING CORRUPT PRACTICES.

When was it before that a democratic candidate for governor of Connecticut went about the state charging against the republicans corrupt practices? This is what Judge Baldwin had to say to the voters of New Britain on Wednesday night:

THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Some folks are always ready to make things right, while others are careful to get things right. The better plan of the two is self-apparent. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right.

THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Some folks are always ready to make things right, while others are careful to get things right. The better plan of the two is self-apparent. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right.

THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Some folks are always ready to make things right, while others are careful to get things right. The better plan of the two is self-apparent. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right.

FOR SENATOR JOHN H. DAVIS.

In the selection of John H. Davis for their candidate for senator from the Nineteenth district, the republicans have made a first-class choice. It is quite unusual for a candidate to hold the unanimous support of all the delegates. But Mr. Davis was unopposed because of his high repute for integrity and his record as a man. He has the reputation of a home town of "blowing a straight furrow," which may be interpreted, figuratively or literally, and still be true. What higher endorsement can any man have than that given Mr. Davis by the convention nominating him when they adopted a resolution which said: "We feel that the rights of the whole people will be best served by the election of a man of the confidence and integrity of the confidence reposed in him will be held as a sacred trust." Candidate Davis certainly deserves the support and confidence of his district.

A PROFITABLE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The admirable system of economy on which the secretary of state's office is conducted is well illustrated in the item of printing and of automobile markers. Previous to Col. M. H. Rogers' coming to the office the printing had been given out under a non-competitive system. Upon Colonel Rogers' advent to the office he inaugurated the competitive system and has saved the state over $4,500. It is in this application of simple business principles to the conducting of the secretary of state's office that has given the United States the highest credit of the people of the state and which will do much to insure him a handsome majority at the coming election.

TOO STRONG TO BE IGNORED.

The 40,000 people living in prohibition states and prohibition counties and towns think that the subject of protection for them is of importance enough to be considered in the forthcoming message of the president. They want the government to stand with the people, not against them, upon such an important subject as this. They allege "There is no more pressing amendment needed to the interstate commerce act than the prohibition protecting and preventing further interference with prohibition legislation. President Taft has just returned from a 10,000-mile trip throughout America. Every state through which he has passed is pressing the battle against the liquor curse and in every state the federal government is and will continue to protect liquor invasion of prohibition territory. The federal tax money from law breakers who are violating liquor prohibition enactments; that every prohibition district in the United States is deprived of legitimate federal support and placed at the mercy of outside liquor dealers so long as this protected law breaking is permitted and sanctioned by the federal government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Some folks are always ready to make things right, while others are careful to get things right. The better plan of the two is self-apparent. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right.

FOR SENATOR JOHN H. DAVIS.

In the selection of John H. Davis for their candidate for senator from the Nineteenth district, the republicans have made a first-class choice. It is quite unusual for a candidate to hold the unanimous support of all the delegates. But Mr. Davis was unopposed because of his high repute for integrity and his record as a man. He has the reputation of a home town of "blowing a straight furrow," which may be interpreted, figuratively or literally, and still be true. What higher endorsement can any man have than that given Mr. Davis by the convention nominating him when they adopted a resolution which said: "We feel that the rights of the whole people will be best served by the election of a man of the confidence and integrity of the confidence reposed in him will be held as a sacred trust." Candidate Davis certainly deserves the support and confidence of his district.

A PROFITABLE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The admirable system of economy on which the secretary of state's office is conducted is well illustrated in the item of printing and of automobile markers. Previous to Col. M. H. Rogers' coming to the office the printing had been given out under a non-competitive system. Upon Colonel Rogers' advent to the office he inaugurated the competitive system and has saved the state over $4,500. It is in this application of simple business principles to the conducting of the secretary of state's office that has given the United States the highest credit of the people of the state and which will do much to insure him a handsome majority at the coming election.

TOO STRONG TO BE IGNORED.

The 40,000 people living in prohibition states and prohibition counties and towns think that the subject of protection for them is of importance enough to be considered in the forthcoming message of the president. They want the government to stand with the people, not against them, upon such an important subject as this. They allege "There is no more pressing amendment needed to the interstate commerce act than the prohibition protecting and preventing further interference with prohibition legislation. President Taft has just returned from a 10,000-mile trip throughout America. Every state through which he has passed is pressing the battle against the liquor curse and in every state the federal government is and will continue to protect liquor invasion of prohibition territory. The federal tax money from law breakers who are violating liquor prohibition enactments; that every prohibition district in the United States is deprived of legitimate federal support and placed at the mercy of outside liquor dealers so long as this protected law breaking is permitted and sanctioned by the federal government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Some folks are always ready to make things right, while others are careful to get things right. The better plan of the two is self-apparent. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right.

FOR SENATOR JOHN H. DAVIS.

In the selection of John H. Davis for their candidate for senator from the Nineteenth district, the republicans have made a first-class choice. It is quite unusual for a candidate to hold the unanimous support of all the delegates. But Mr. Davis was unopposed because of his high repute for integrity and his record as a man. He has the reputation of a home town of "blowing a straight furrow," which may be interpreted, figuratively or literally, and still be true. What higher endorsement can any man have than that given Mr. Davis by the convention nominating him when they adopted a resolution which said: "We feel that the rights of the whole people will be best served by the election of a man of the confidence and integrity of the confidence reposed in him will be held as a sacred trust." Candidate Davis certainly deserves the support and confidence of his district.

A PROFITABLE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The admirable system of economy on which the secretary of state's office is conducted is well illustrated in the item of printing and of automobile markers. Previous to Col. M. H. Rogers' coming to the office the printing had been given out under a non-competitive system. Upon Colonel Rogers' advent to the office he inaugurated the competitive system and has saved the state over $4,500. It is in this application of simple business principles to the conducting of the secretary of state's office that has given the United States the highest credit of the people of the state and which will do much to insure him a handsome majority at the coming election.

TOO STRONG TO BE IGNORED.

The 40,000 people living in prohibition states and prohibition counties and towns think that the subject of protection for them is of importance enough to be considered in the forthcoming message of the president. They want the government to stand with the people, not against them, upon such an important subject as this. They allege "There is no more pressing amendment needed to the interstate commerce act than the prohibition protecting and preventing further interference with prohibition legislation. President Taft has just returned from a 10,000-mile trip throughout America. Every state through which he has passed is pressing the battle against the liquor curse and in every state the federal government is and will continue to protect liquor invasion of prohibition territory. The federal tax money from law breakers who are violating liquor prohibition enactments; that every prohibition district in the United States is deprived of legitimate federal support and placed at the mercy of outside liquor dealers so long as this protected law breaking is permitted and sanctioned by the federal government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Some folks are always ready to make things right, while others are careful to get things right. The better plan of the two is self-apparent. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right. It is not right to have a man who is not right, and it is not right to have a man who is not right.

FOR SENATOR JOHN H. DAVIS.

In the selection of John H. Davis for their candidate for senator from the Nineteenth district, the republicans have made a first-class choice. It is quite unusual for a candidate to hold the unanimous support of all the delegates. But Mr. Davis was unopposed because of his high repute for integrity and his record as a man. He has the reputation of a home town of "blowing a straight furrow," which may be interpreted, figuratively or literally, and still be true. What higher endorsement can any man have than that given Mr. Davis by the convention nominating him when they adopted a resolution which said: "We feel that the rights of the whole people will be best served by the election of a man of the confidence and integrity of the confidence reposed in him will be held as a sacred trust." Candidate Davis certainly deserves the support and confidence of his district.

A PROFITABLE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The admirable system of economy on which the secretary of state's office is conducted is well illustrated in the item of printing and of automobile markers. Previous to Col. M. H. Rogers' coming to the office the printing had been given out under a non-competitive system. Upon Colonel Rogers' advent to the office he inaugurated the competitive system and has saved the state over $4,500. It is in this application of simple business principles to the conducting of the secretary of state's office that has given the United States the highest credit of the people of the state and which will do much to insure him a handsome majority at the coming election.

TOO STRONG TO BE IGNORED.

The 40,000 people living in prohibition states and prohibition counties and towns think that the subject of protection for them is of importance enough to be considered in the forthcoming message of the president. They want the government to stand with the people, not against them, upon such an important subject as this. They allege "There is no more pressing amendment needed to the interstate commerce act than the prohibition protecting and preventing further interference with prohibition legislation. President Taft has just returned from a 10,000-mile trip throughout America. Every state through which he has passed is pressing the battle against the liquor curse and in every state the federal government is and will continue to protect liquor invasion of prohibition territory. The federal tax money from law breakers who are violating liquor prohibition enactments; that every prohibition district in the United States is deprived of legitimate federal support and placed at the mercy of outside liquor dealers so long as this protected law breaking is permitted and sanctioned by the federal government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The straw vote is often a comfort, if it is not a real assurance. Men like to have things seem.

Dr. Crippen's greatest trial is right before him; this is the reason that he hopes to get a new trial.

Norwich's Only First-class Theatre
HOME OF GOOD VAUDEVILLE

A BILL THAT WILL MAKE YOU STAND UP AND TAKE NOTICE

BEATRICE INGRAM & CO.
4 People 4 "IN THE DUCHESS" A Rip-roaring Farce

3 People—PETE LAWRENCE & CO.—3 People
"The Fresh Freshman"

SPECIAL ADDED ATTRACTION
Kris Toffy Trio in Grand Opera

ELPHIE SNOWDEN—BEN HAMEARL
Late of Folies 1910—Little Nemo Silver Star—
Cohan and Harris Minstrels

EXTRA FEATURE
CHAS. F. SEAMON "The Narrow Man" Some Fun Maker

MANION & HALL
The Frisco Entertainers

ROSE & SEVERN
In the Automobile Disaster

PEARL YOUNG
"Baby Grand Girl"

3 ALEX 3
Sensational Aerial Gymnasts

Twice Daily—2 and 7-45

PROFESSIONAL TRY-OUT NIGHT EVERY WEDNESDAY.
$50. Lady's Caracul Coat Given Away. Look at it in window Manhattan Store.

No Advance in Prices
5 EXTRA ACTS FROM NEW YORK CITY.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

THE CRAVING FOR THE LIME-LIGHT.

"The splendor falls on castle walls" sings the poet, but it is not rosy-fingered Aurora or the flush of sunset that seems to count so much in this practical and materialistic age, as the piercing, artificial rays from some man-made instrument. And this is but a symbol of the very prevalent desire to have our own deed and personalities made conspicuous by the manufactured glare of the limelight. We are not only eager to see the people in the band wagon as the procession goes by, to read all the little details pertaining to Mrs. Moneybags' personal life, the number of trunks she brought home from Europe and the size of her staff of domestics, but we are also not averse to being talked about and looked at ourselves, to be put a little apart from the rank and file because of our possession of a little more money or influence or talent or position, and to have other people say as we go by, "There goes Mr. So and So. Such and such a thing has just happened to him. He is worth looking at."

I once asked a minister of wide experience what spirit his parishioners showed when death came to their homes. Did it make them more tender? Did it unnerve them? And his reply was to the effect that as a rule the inmates of the house of mourning are, under those circumstances, about what they are when they are normally. "Indeed," he went on to say, "I find that a good many people rarely liked the limelight prominence afforded by the fact that for a time they are the objects of special interest and attention. It helps them through the funeral and the mourning to think that other people's eyes are for the moment on them, perhaps in sympathy, possibly in curiosity. They put on a brave face, but when they look at themselves and are talked about, they may seem a rather brutal way of describing the results of the limelight which is constantly calling them to that home, but it serves to illustrate the point that human nature, when allowed to indulge its baser tendencies, easily succumbs to the temptation to seek notoriety, to be differentiated from and in a way exalted above others.

But how reprehensibly is this attitude of mind a fight it with all might and conquer it at any cost. In the first place, limelight notoriety is transient. Popular favor is often as fickle as is indignantly bestowed. How few people who get into the center of the stage by fair means or foul keep long their position. The cherishes of Nevada five years ago, or who was a class leader in the college of the year before last, or who was president of the women's club before the present regime? The limelight serves to radiate a personality a little while, but it comes and goes, and he who looks to it as the source of his permanent happiness is likely to be disappointed.

Another reason why this passion in ourselves is so often in the fact that the limelight can secure only relatively slight distinction above one's fellows. You may have this kind of so-called honor, but unless you are among the few great persons of the world you can outshine the average person only a little, and probably somebody not far away is more brilliantly illuminated than you ever possibly are. Why, then, do we covet these petty notoriety? In all probability, if compared with the attention more gifted and fortunate people are having, your little pomp and circumstance of office would be quite overshadowed.

Moreover, the desire to be in the front ranks, to have the limelight streaming over you, over clothes, over attainments, your offices, is so thoroughly unchristian that one who cherishes it is hardly to be considered a consistent disciple of him who said, "I am in the midst of you as he that serves." Least of all can a professional religious worker love the limelight, the chief seats in the synagogues, the chairmanships of committees, the influential trusteeships. For by so doing they run entirely counter to New Testament teaching and the example and practice of the best Christians of all the ages. "For all their works they do to be seen of men." "He that humbly himself shall be exalted, and he who exalts himself shall be brought low." "Except ye be converted and become as little children." With such words as these, set in the midst of the book which Christians profess to reverence, how can they love the limelight and strive to have it rays turned upon them? Better let us turn to the humblest of the lowly, and let us emulate their serenity and modesty.

THE PARSON.

PLAY GOES TO OWN STAGE.

Waterbury Men Would Improve the Bills in That City.

Because the directors of the Waterbury hospital think they and their families are not being entertained as well as they should be at the local theatre, the beautiful Buckingham Music hall called by Walter Damrosch the second finest concert auditorium in America, and presented to the hospital by John H. Whittemore, may be turned into a theatre.

If that is done, the house will present plays not under control of the Klaw and Erlanger syndicate. Plans have already been drawn for the reformation of the hall into a playhouse, and a tentative arrangement has been made with the Shuberts to undertake its direction.

STOP YOUR COUGH

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar

Loosens the Phlegm
Allays the Irritation
Arrests the Tickling
Soothes and Heals

Pike's Toothache Drops
Cure in One Minute

PLUMBING AND GASFITTING.

JOHNSON & BENSON,
20 Central Avenue.

SLATE ROOFING

Metal Cornices and Skylights, Gutters and Conduits, and all kinds of Jobbing promptly attended to.
Tel. 719.

The Vaughn Foundry Co.
IRON CASTINGS

Furnished promptly. Large stock of patterns. No. 11 to 28 Ferry Street.
Tel. 220.

S. F. GIBSON
Tin and Sheet Metal Worker

Agent for Richardson and Boynton Furnaces.
55 West Main Street, Norwich, Conn.
dec'd

T. F. BURNS,
Heating and Plumbing,
92 Franklin Street.

Do It Now

Have that old-fashioned, unsanitary plumbing replaced by new and modern open plumbing. It will repay you in the increase of health and saving of doctor's bills. Overhauling and refitting thoroughly done. Let me give you a figure for replacing all the old plumbing with the modern open plumbing. I will keep out the sewer gas. The work will be first-class and the price reasonable.

J. F. TOMPKINS,
Tel. 183
67 West Main Street

There is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

Wednesday Evening, Nov. 2, 1910, at 8 o'clock.

TOWN HALL

The Speakers will be
Hon. Edwin W. Higgins
of Norwich
Hon. Geo. B. Chandler of Rocky Hill

Everybody Invited

PARADE at 7.30

TUBBS' BAND

MUSIC.

CHARLES D. GEER
Teacher of Singing.
42 Broadway.
Regular hours after Oct. 1st.

HELEN LATHROP PERKINS,
TEACHER OF SINGING,
sep't 29d 11 Huntington Place.

NELLIE S. HOWLE,
Teacher of Piano,
Fletcher Music Method.
Room 48 - Central Building.

F. C. GEER
TUNER
122 Prospect St.
Tel. 511. Norwich, Ct.

L. H. BALCOM,
Teacher of Piano,
29 Thorne St.

Lessons given at my residence or at the home of the pupil. Send me names of scholars to Schenck Conservatory, Berlin.

Rose Bowling Alleys,
LUCAS HALL,
43 Shetucket St.
J. C. STONE, Prop.
oct'10

When you want to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

Waterbury Men Would Improve the Bills in That City.

Because the directors of the Waterbury hospital think they and their families are not being entertained as well as they should be at the local theatre, the beautiful Buckingham Music hall called by Walter Damrosch the second finest concert auditorium in America, and presented to the hospital by John H. Whittemore, may be turned into a theatre.

If that is done, the house will present plays not under control of the Klaw and Erlanger syndicate. Plans have already been drawn for the reformation of the hall into a playhouse, and a tentative arrangement has been made with the Shuberts to undertake its direction.